

TransPerfect Expands Operations in Germany: Second German Office Opening in Munich in Response to Increased Demand for Translation Services.

London – February 1, 2005 - TransPerfect Translations, one of the world's leading providers of translation services, today announced the opening of a new office in Munich, Germany. Increased demand for the company's services from new German-based clients over the past twelve months, as well as growth in demand from existing clients, together drove the need for expansion.

Angela O'Sullivan, Vice President of International Sales at TransPerfect said, "Our new Munich office will allow us to better serve our growing base of clients in Germany. Our Frankfurt office has seen resounding success, and we fully expect Munich to follow a similar path. After weighing several options for expansion within Germany, Munich was the clear choice for TransPerfect, based on its business and cultural attributes, as well as the wealth of skilled linguistic talent present throughout the city and the surrounding area."

TransPerfect plans to strengthen its relationships in Germany with existing global clients ranging from Allianz to Bristol-Myers Squibb to BMW. In addition, as home to the European Patent Office, Munich provides an optimum platform from which TransPerfect can serve its legal client base. The new office will be located at Maximilianstrasse 35a, 80539 Munich, Germany.
