

Stephen Earl
Migration Advisory Committee Secretariat
Home Office

Stephen Earl has spent over thirty years in government working in a range of departments including the Home Office, the Ministry of Defence and the Cabinet Office. Amongst other things, he was one of the authors of the Freedom of Information Act.

Stephen transferred across to the Migration Advisory Committee (MAC) Secretariat in 2007 just as the Committee was being set up. He has responsibility for managing the MAC's engagement with its stakeholders and oversight of the MAC's governance arrangements such as finance and appointments. He has contributed directly to all of the MAC's published reports and been the project lead on several including the two most recent reports on nurses and teachers.
